

Wyoming Toad

The Wyoming toad has green skin with dark blotches. This coloring helps it blend into the grass to hide from animals that might want to eat it. These toads have lived in Wyoming a long time — since the great glaciers of the Ice Age disappeared more than 12,000 years ago!

In what state is this species found?

